THE SAYWARD CASE.

Involving Important Points in the Controversy Between the

UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN.

Arguments by Eminent Members of the Bar Before the United States Supreme Court on the Appeal from Alaska.

The Sayward or Behring Sea Case.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Interest in the Sayward, or Behring sea case, involving important points in the controversy between the United States and Great Britain concerning the right of jurisdiction in Behring sea, brought an unusual number of people to the chamber of the federal supreme court to hear the arguments of the contending parties. Ex-Secretary Bayard and ex-Senator Edmunds sat within the bar and gave close attention to what was said. A number of other distinguished lawyers were present, and every member of the court was in his seat. Attorney-General Miller and Solicitor-General Taft represented the United States, while Calderon Carlisle, of Washington, and Joe H Choate, of New York, appeared for the British government.

The case in controversy is that of the schooner W. P. Sayward, a Canadian vessel, seized by the United States in Behring sea for illegal sealing supposedly 59 miles from any shore.

The Sayward was libeled by the United States district court of Alaska for taking seal in violation of the statutes of the United States, and the case came to the supreme court upon a motion for a writ of prohibition against the Alaskan court upon the grounds that the vessel was seized outside the jurisdiction of the United States over the waters of the Behring sea. The government, when the case first came before the supreme court, denied the jurisdiction of the court to consider the application for a writ of prohibition, but the court held adversely. Briefs were filed by both parties and the case came up for argument yesterday on its merits.

Mr. Carlisle opened the case for the British government shortly before 2 o'clock. He occupied just one hour. No decision of the court could, he said, interfere with the independence of congress. The court could, without expressing any opinion on the question of protecting seals, render a decision on the question of a 59-mile limit. He claimed that the Alaskan judge, before he signed his decree in the case, placed upon evidence an opinion that warranted him then and there in dismissing it. Mr. Carlisle contended that in the exercise of power conferred on the supreme court to issue writs of prohibition, the court was directed to revise the position of the court below. The supreme court, he said, was a superior court calling to account an inferior court that had exceeded its authority. He made further argument that the United States supreme court had jurisdiction over all other courts. The supreme court, he said, could go deeper into the case than merely acting on the face of the papers presented to it, certifying the decision of the Alaska court. The court must not ignore the facts; it must not simply examine the records, and he quoted an opinion in support of this contention. He believed, he said, that the case depended on the decision of a question of law as to whether the revised statutes forbade the killing of seals.

The limits of marine territory in Behring sea were not fixed, he said, by the Russian treaty, but by the law of nations, and it was an absolute provision of that law that this jurisdiction could not be changed excepting by a concurrence of nations. The attorney-general had lost sight of a most important point in the case. He claimed that the question was a political one, and did not involve international law. A question that involved the liberty and property of foreign people could never be a political question.

Solicitor-General Taft followed for the United States. He alleged that the seizure was made in the waters of Alaska, and in that portion of Behring sea belonging to the United States. The other side denied this, but the statute of March 3, 1889, settled that the United States had jurisdiction. Mr. Taft devoted considerable attention to the words "face of the proceedings," contending that if there was want of jurisdiction by the Alaska court a statement of it did not appear on the face of the proceedings, and the court was not called on to decide except on them. He cited decisions of English courts to prove that unless the point of issue was stated on the face of the proceedings, prohibition could not issue, and he insisted that the Alaska court's finding was conclusive. It could not prove, he said, that the Sayward when seized, was not within the three-league limit. The government, he said, did not deny that the jurisdiction of the district court of Alaska and the venue of the offense were judicial questions, but it maintained that the question at issue was a political one.

To-day Mr. Choate will close the argument for the British government, and Attorney-General Miller will close for the United States.

Making a Desperate Effort to Secure the Republican National Convention.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—A San Francisco paragraph states that the people of that city are making a vigorous effort to secure the holding of the national republican convention in that city next year, and Mr. M. H. De Young, the California member of the national republican convention, believes that the convention can be secured if San Francisco would pay all the expenses of the delegates to the convention.

In connection with this a special from Titusville, Fla., quotes Senator Quay as saying that San Francisco is too far off. He added: "It's a long, weary ride to California, and the people won't take kindly to it. But California would entertain the delegates as they have never been entertained before. She would, in fact, pay all the expenses going and returning, if need be, and a national convention there would have this one advantage—a big one too, in my estimation—it would be free from outside influences entirely. The heelers and the henchmen and local powers in politics would not be there. It would be too far to go, and too expensive, and the convention could easily express its own sentiments."

Barred by the Statute of Limitations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—The court of claims yesterday rendered a decision dismissing the suits of the states of Indiana, Ohio, and Illinois against the United States to recover the 2 per cent fund retained from the proceeds of the sale of the Cumberland Gap road, aggregating one million and a half dollars. The court held that the fund in question is not a trust fund and that it is barred by the statute of limitations. An appeal will be taken.

Thrown Out as a Feeler.

WASHINGTON, Nov 10.—The announcement of Attorney-General-elect Poe, of Maryland to the effect that the Maryland democracy would soon have a newspaper organ of its own, is said to have been thrown out in the nature of a feeler, and that the idea is the outcome of a conference between ex-President Cleveland and Senator Gorman in New York, in which both gentlemen concurred in the propriety of the movement.

They've Got Them On the Lists.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The department of state has just issued, for the information of exporters, a new edition of the dominican reciprocity arrangement, containing an alphabetical reperbory of lists of all articles of American product or manufacture entitled to free or favored admission into San Domingo.

The Trial of an Eccentric Kleptomaniac

CATSKILL, N. Y., Nov. 10.—The trial of Rev. Mr. George was resumed yesterday morning. The prosecution read the "confession" written by the prisoner while in jail here, and then rested its case.

Counsellor Fiero made an eloquent address in opening the case for the defense, which was very able rhetorically, but weak in the definitions of crime charged to his client.

Two ministers who had known George, then testified to his good character as far they had known him, but they had considered him decidedly eccentric.

The prisoner was then sworn and gave a detailed history of his life to the time of his arrest relating principally accounts of petty thefts committed in every place in which he ever lived. He claimed never to have stolen anything of value, except in Leeds, where nothing loose seemed to have been safe. At one time in the recital, the prisoner broke down completely and burst into tears.

The court adjourned until morning in the midst of the direct examination.

A Little Hanging Might Improve His Memory.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Nov. 10.—The usually quiet village of Greene, Pike county, is greatly excited over a tragedy enacted at the home of George David, an aged farmer, on Saturday last. Simeon P. Field, employed on an adjoining farm, entered the premises of David, called the latter to the door and blew the top of his head off with a load of buckshot. Field then turned on David's wife like a savage beast, shooting her in the face and beating her about the head with his gun. The assassin then ran down the farm lane where he met a son of David's, whom he shot in the back. David is dead, and it is believed that the mother and son cannot live. Field was arrested, taken to Milford and locked up. He claims to have no recollection of his crime.

The New York Presbytery and the Subject of Revision.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—A full meeting of the New York presbytery was held yesterday afternoon to receive a report from the committee which had been appointed to consider the subject of revision of the Presbyterian Confession of Faith, as propose by the last Presbyterian general assembly. The committee reported that it approved of the work already done by the general assembly's committee on revision; also recommends to that committee several amendments in the line of the work that they have already done. The report was accepted by the New York presbytery, and will be presented at another meeting next Monday, when it is probable the report will be adopted.

Fatally Shot by a Demented Man.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—George C. Waldo, a lawyer of this city who resides in Brooklyn, was shot in the left breast, Sunday night, in that city, by Geo. S. Thomas, the father of his landlord, while trying to disarm the old man, who is demented. Waldo is believed to be dying.

Identity of the Grand Central Depot Suicide.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—It is now learned that the woman who attempted suicide in the Grand Central depot was Mrs. Viola Greylock, an employe of the patent office in Washington. It is said that she was despondent because she feared she was about to be removed from her position.

PITIABLE SCENES.

Caused by the Emin of Bokara's Decree Prohibiting

THE INTERMARRIAGE OF LEPERS.

Families Ruthlessly Torn Asunder that the Plague Spot of Asia May be Blotted Out—Slaying Themselves Rather Than be Parted.

The Marriage of Lepers Prohibited.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—A letter from Samaricand says that the emir of Bokhara has issued a decree prohibiting the marriage of lepers. It appears that in a portion of the town of Bokhara lepers have been for generations past in the habit of intermarrying with each other, and no supervision is exercised over them. Consequently the place has become known as the plague spot of Asia. The emir some time ago called in the advice of Russian medical men as to what means should be taken to get rid of the evil. These have made their recommendations to the effect that the lepers should be entirely isolated, and that none so afflicted should be permitted to live in the marital relation. The enforcement of these decrees is being carried out with Asiatic severity, and the scenes of misery between the separated families are described as most pitiable. In several instances lepers have slain themselves rather than be parted from their wives and children. Even with all this harshness it will take some time to stamp out the plague of Asia.

The Rebellion in Yemen Likely to Prove Successful.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 10.—News from Yemen is very discouraging to the Turkish cause. The rebels have made two assaults on the capitol of the province where the Turkish forces are surrounded, and the last time nearly with success. The sultan is said to be considering whether he will grant the demands of the insurgents, which amount substantially to home-rule by a native prince and native judges, under the suzerainty of the sultan and a reduction of the enormous burden of taxation. From present indications, if the sultan does not yield something, he may lose everything in Arabia, as the insurgents will not, it is believed, stop short of driving the Turks out of Yemen. The sultan is said to feel more anxious on this subject than on any European question.

No Thought of Evacuating Egypt.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Lord Salisbury created a decided sensation at guildhall last evening. His positive declaration that there was no thought of evacuating Egypt was regarded as a direct challenge to Gladstone on that issue, which Gladstone had raised at Newcastle. The lord mayor's banquet is non-partisan, but ministers usually take the opportunity to drop significant hints of what their policy is to be, especially when it is likely to be gratifying to the holders of consols, such as most of those present at a lord mayor's banquet generally are. Mr. Gladstone's utterance at Newcastle has been received with such decided disfavor by liberals as well as tories that the applause which welcomed Lord Salisbury's emphatic declaration was not a surprise.

Preparing for Lively Times in the Reichstag.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The socialists are preparing, it is said, to make a warm attack in the reichstag upon any measures proposed in pursuance of the kaiser's new hobby of enforcing personal morals by law. The kaiser's views are not at all acceptable to the socialists, who charge him with attempting to assume authority little short of omnipotent, and altogether unsuited for the present stage of civilization. Between Bismarck and the socialists all indications point to a lively session in the reichstag.

No Reconciliation Possible.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Wm. Redmond is reported as stating, Sunday, that reconciliation between the Parnellites and the McCarthyites was impossible unless the latter accepted the principles for which the Parnellites were struggling, and rejected from their ranks the men who were responsible for hounding Parnell to the grave. It is said that McDermott who horsewhipped Healy, threatens to repeat the experiment.

Clerical Influence in the Elections.

CORK, Nov. 10.—A meeting of priests has been called to consider the next step to be taken relative to the suppression of the Parnellite movement. There is now little doubt that Redmond will attempt to prevent the seating of Flavin on the ground of clerical intimidation and undue influence in the election.

The Gold Fields of Mashonaland.

CAPE TOWN, Nov. 10.—Rt. Hon. Cecil Rhodes, premier of the colony and director of the British South Africa Co., has returned from a visit to the gold fields of Mashonaland, of the productiveness of which he speaks in the highest language.

EDWIN BOOTH.

Edwin Booth, the great actor, is contemplating retiring from the American stage. Of late years he has grown solitary. In fact it is said that he has played Hamlet so long, that he has become so imbued with the philosophy of the melancholy Dane, that it has tinged his whole life. If Mr. Booth would take Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure he would find that it would greatly relieve him, clear away the mists from his brain, stimulate his throat, aid his digestion, and make a new man of him. For all maladies that arsse from a cold this great German Remedy has no equal. It is peculiarly applicable for the throat troubles that afflict actors. It will relieve the worst cold at once, and cure it in a day. It contains no opiate or other poison and can be given to the weakest infant without danger, and at the same time it is prompt, efficacious and certain. For sale by all druggists.

A farmer near Albia, Iowa, by the name of J. H. Wolf, has found a sure cure for croup. He says: "For the last eight years I have recommended Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for croup. Half of a fifty cent bottle will cure the worst case, if taken in time. On the 20th of this month, my boy, four years old, had the croup very bad and three doses cured him. I would not be without it in my family." If the remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, it will invarably prevent the croup. 50 cent bottles for sale by W. F. Neisler.

CHANGING ITS FIELD.

It is Industrial Competition Which in These Days Occupies

CHANCELLORIES AND DIPLOMACIES,

The Great Subject of Consideration Being the Treaties of Commerce Expiring Next Year—Salisbury's Guildhall Speech.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In his speech at the guildhall, last evening Lord Salisbury paid graceful tributes to the memory of his late colleagues, Right Hon. W. H. Smith and Right Hon. H. C. Raikes. He eulogized Mr Balfour's administration of Irish affairs, and then went on to say: "There is not a single speck of cloud on the European horizon continuing within it anything injurious to the prospects of peace. It seems to me that the warfare of nations, judging from the interest they take in the subject, is slowly changing its field. It is industrial competition which in these days occupies its chancellories and its diplomacies. The great subjects of consideration are those treaties of commerce expiring next year. The great question is, what tariff will the various nations adopt in respect to each other? I think I can hold out to England, as regards material welfare the most promising anticipations, so far as present prospects go. Respecting the industrial warfare which has for its weapons protective legislation, and for its prizes the markets of the various countries, I am afraid we must be content to occupy for a time a peculiar and isolated position. The cause of protection only sinks to rise. The elections in America had shown a slight reaction, but it has spent its force. The only free trade colony is Sydney, and that, I am afraid, no longer has an unspotted robe. Before very long, I think we will have the advantage of being athanasius contra mundum of free trade; but no doubt a commercial community like England will not falter in its attachment to free trade.

"I don't ascribe to free trade any special blame in that respect, because the fact is that articles respecting which we should have exercised protection, if we exercised it at all, are mainly articles of first consumption bearing on necessities of the whole of our population, which is an absolute guarantee that we will never return to protection."

Regarding the foreign policy of England, Lord Salisbury said:

"The policy of the government regarding Egypt will not be changed. Mr. Gladstone's statement at Newcastle was singularly unfortunate and inopportune. It has given heart to all who were unfriendly to England. It has given pain to all who value the prosperity of Egypt. England has made great sacrifices, shed most precious blood and scattered treasure freely in order to rescue Egypt from the evils which have overtaken her. If England acted alone that matter was not her fault. Now that blood has been split and the treasure spent she cannot allow it to be all swept away like last year's almanac and suffer Egypt to return to the anarchy which would be a condition of danger to her neighbors like a few years ago."

War Ships.

For years Congress has shown a disposition to regard the building of war ships and coast defenses a matter of small importance. This grew, no doubt, out of the fact that the United States is regarded as safe from all danger of invasion from foreign powers. Too much importance has been attached to this fact and too little to the fact that the time must come when the Government would be required to defend its honor on the coast of some other country, which would naturally lead to the necessity for coast defenses for our own coasts.

Our Government has never followed the maxim, "In time of peace prepare for war." It has always been found preparing for war after war became a necessity, or the Government had been actually assailed.

This disposition of the Government has again been demonstrated. The trouble in Chili has been at fever heat for a long time, and yet, when this Government saw its sailors killed on the streets of Valparaiso it was unable to enforce satisfaction pending the penalty of laying that city in ashes within a few hours. Under the same provocation the naval representatives of England or Germany would have enforced such a demand without referring the matter to their governments. Minister Lincoln some time ago said that the standing of nations at foreign courts was measured by the power of the several governments to enforce its demands by the power of its navy, and that by this estimate the United States stood far below some nations that were otherwise unimportant.

Since the Chilian affair, however, great activity in our navy yards is daily announced. Every war ship that can be made to float is being prepared for sea. Men are working overtime and on Sunday as well. In the midst of this hurry and bustle comes the announcement that revolution is imminent in Brazil, which means that American interests in that republic need protection, and here we are as a nation unprepared to protect our own interests. These facts may as well be admitted, humiliating as they are. They should teach us a lesson. They should silence the mouths of the would-be statesmen who tell us there is no danger of war; that we are in no need of a navy or coast defences, as the world fears us. These assumptions are foolish and absolutely dangerous and have been disproved but never more emphatically than in the recent murder of American sailors by the petty government of Chili.

Of course we will come out all right in the end, but it will prove expensive and embarrassing, while on the other hand had we been prepared, as we should have been, for any emergency on the coasts of Chili, the difficulty had never occurred; or, if it had, Chili would have been made to apologize in a few hours. We have failed to profit by experience in the past. The question now is, Will the present lesson do us good?

The Democrats and Free Coinage.

And now the Democratic leaders are trying to hedge on free coinage. A year ago they were doing all they could to have a free silver coinage bill enacted. Illinois and nearly every Democratic State convention in the West endorsed free coinage, and Democratic candidates for Congress advocated it. Now how silent they have become. The Democratic party was ready to sacrifice the best interests of the country for a few votes, but now that that party regards it more politic to abandon free coinage they proceed to abandon it. But history stands against the Democratic party. The New York Press tells the story aptly in the following:

Mr. Cleveland, in his carefully prepared interview in all the newspapers the day after election, declared that the people "cannot be deluded as to the importance of sound currency, but Democratic Congressmen and stump speakers are the ones who delude them.

In the House of Representatives on June 5, 1890, when Mr. Bland moved to instruct the Coinage Committee to report a bill providing for free silver coinage, the number of Democratic Representatives who voted "Yes" was 101, and the number who voted "No" was 13. In the Senate the Democratic vote for free silver stood 23 for; 3 against.

If the Republicans in the last Congress had not stood in the way we should before now have had a free coinage act in actual operation. Have inconsiderate persons inflated with the craze calculated what the result would be?

The people of the United States bought last year of foreign stuffs $844,905,491. Under free coinage we should pay this $844,905,491 of gold value, (the only standard the world over) with our depreciated silver dollars. It would add 20 per cent, to the cost. We should pay every foreign bill in gold dollars worth 100 cents and be paid in silver dollars worth 75 to 80 cents. Labor would be paid in silver and would have to pay in gold, for everything from a house to a horseshoe would be valued by the inflexible, unchangeable gold standard, not by the constantly changing, speculative silver value.

Are farmers, mechanics and tradesmen ready to try the cheap money lunacy? Is the party which espouses such a heresy worthy of trust? This will be one of the two great issues in the next Congress and in the Presidential campaign.

Col. A. L. Conger, of Ohio, who is the member of the Republican National Committee from that state, has recently been making himself exceedingly offensive to a great many Republicans by airing on every possible occasion his preference for a certain candidate for President, and attempting to commit the country to his choice. The Inter-Ocean taking note of this says:

Some one ought to remind Colonel A. L. Conger that the Republican National committee, of which he is a member, has only one duty to perform, the selection of the time and place for holding the next convention. The convention will look after the other details, such as the selection of a candidate for President and the new committee to conduct the campaign. The Colonel's active(?) interest in the campaign just finished in his own state has taken so much of his time that the Ohio Republicans may not care to impose upon him longer by asking him to serve another term as a National committeeman.

A Revenue tariff never built a factory in America nor opened the way for one. The protective tariff has built up industries in this country and the McKinley law is building more, even Democratic free traders believe this and are willing to chance their capital on it as the following dispatch from Washington shows:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Co-operative Town Company of Tennessee, consisting of Robert P. Porter president; John G. Carlisle, Isham G. Harris, H. O. Hansbrough, Benjamin Butterworth, Louis E. McComas and Col. A. T. Britton, held in this city today, it was definitely decided to locate the new manufacturing town in eastern Tennessee; at Elizabethton, in the celebrated Watauga Valley, on the Watauga and Doe rivers.

Among the professional free trades in this organization we note Senator Carlisle of Ky., and Senator Harris of Tennessee both of whom voted against the McKinley bill, Britton is also a Democrat.

Best Vindicated Man in America.

Indianapolis Journal: All things considered the election of McKinley is one of the most notable personal triumphs ever achieved by an American statesman. For three years he has been a target for foreign criticism and Democratic abuse. While the McKinley bill was pending he was denounced in the most unmeasured terms. After it passed the floodgates of Democratic abuse were opened and the repertoire of vilifying adjectives was exhausted on him. The Ohio legislature gerrymandered him out of Congress, and free traders everywhere shouted their approval of the act. But he made his fight and bided his time with a fixedness and steadiness of purpose worthy of admiration. To-day he is the best vindicated man in America. As the governor elect of his native state by the free suffrages of its people he can afford to smile at the vain efforts of his enemies at home and abroad.

Among the statesmen laid out cold by the vote at the last election is Calvin Brice, Esq., Chairman of the National Democratic committee, and Senator from Ohio and New York. Both his Ohio and Briceville constituents are on the run. The Governor of Tennessee offers "a reward of $25" for any of Brice's men caught, but thus far few of the fugitives have been returned to their work of "mining coal at 45 cents per day."

When Gov. Campbell spoke at the pottery town called East Liverpool, O., (not far from Wheeling) he made a brutal attack on the potters, calling them slaves, serfs, voting-cattle, said they were owned by their bosses, and used other opprobrious terms. The little town polls something over 1,000 votes. It gave 656 majority against Campbell. That was the answer of the potters to his slanderous epithets.

A Special from Washington says: That Secretary Blaine has concluded that England is at the bottom of the trouble in Brazil with a view of restoring her trade with that country as against the recent reciprocity treaty of this country with Brazil. It is expected that in case Blaine's conclusions are confirmed there will be lively times in diplomatic circles.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says:

Toledo, O, Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen: I have been in the general practice of medicine for 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a good many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions. Yours truly,

L. L. Gorshuch, M. D.,
Office 215 Summit St.

We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally. F. J. Cheney & Co., Props, Toledo, O.

AN OLD-FASHIONED IDEA.

It used to be thought that the only way to save money was to "salt it down" in an old pewter pot or something, a little at a time, as it could be spared. No one ever thought of getting interest on his savings or of making the money in the pot earn anything. It is not so now. People have grown into better ideas. So small a sum as 40 cents per month may be saved and profitably invested in the Equitable Building and Loan Society of Peoria. Sums as high as $120 per month may also be saved and invested. Every dollar earns the same as every other dollar. No preferred stockholders. Women and children may carry stock. It will teach boys and girls the value of a dollar, properly handled.

The Equitable is a national organization.

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking ten bottles, found herself sound and well, now she does her own housework and is as well as she ever was.—Free trial bottles of this Great Discovery at King & Wood's Drug Store, large bottles 50c. and $1.00.

A LUCKY DISCOVERY.

Novel Plan for Convicts to Break Out of Jail.

Sheriff Perl did not take the sentenced prisoners to Joliet last night. He will delay the journey a week or ten days. Why? Because 20 prisoners in custody attempted to escape from the jail last evening, or had laid their plans to "fly the coop" during the night, which was all the same to Perl. Luckily he discovered the game in time, and quietly changed his plans and remained at home to perform on the newly tuned parlor piano and keep an eagle eye on the jail birds. This was the way of it. During the day the prisoners managed by main force or filing to detach one of the heavy iron doors from one of the cells. It weighs nearly 200 pounds. This door the prisoners carried to a point near the front of the prison and hoisted it to a point about on a level with the floor of the landing of the second tier of cells. It was so fixed as to escape ordinary scrutiny. The plan was to wait until night, and then let the door drop at an angle on the stone floor below, crack a hole in the floor, and escape from the prison through the basement out of one of the basement windows or through the kitchen. But the misplaced door was discovered late in the evening and the scheme was exposed by one of the confiding jail birds who had no hand in the game but was quick to tell the story when the sharp eyes of the Sheriff and the turnkey checked the plans. Had the scheme been carried out there would have been a great surprise in store for the jail birds and possibly two or three cases of drowning. The point selected by the schemers to drop the door is directly over the jail cistern, which is eight feet in diameter walled up to the floor of the jail, and said cistern is nearly full of water. Had the opening been made, the prisoners in their eagerness to escape would have jumped down through the crack only to find themselves in eight feet of water with a thick wall all around and no means of escape from the cistern except up through the hole in the floor. Think of what might have been. Even the jail birds shiver as they imagine what might have been their fate, and they are glad now that their plans miscarried.

As a punishment for the attempted jail-break the Sheriff will keep the sentenced prisoners in custody a week longer. There are eight prisoners to be taken to Joliet, and one, Fleming, to be returned.

It is a common thing for the prisoners to make efforts to escape from the jail, but this last effort places all other attempts in the shade for novel originality.

The T. H. & P.

C. W. Fairbanks, President of the Terre Haute & Peoria road, is inclined to be boastful over the outlook for this company. This is the old Illinois Midland, which for years floundered in the financial mire, and was taken hold of and purchased by Mr. Fairbanks and his friends at a very reasonable sum. They at once commenced placing the road bed in a better physical condition and equipping the line properly, and as a result, under the general management of I. H. Burgoon, its business has reached a volume far beyond the early expectations of the syndicate which purchased the road. The prospects for business on the line for months to come could not well be more favorable. The road is operated largely in the interest of the Vandalia, which rightfully should own it. The only drawback to making it an important line is short breaks at two places on the line, which the present owners expect soon to build, which will make it a complete road from its connection with the Vandalia to Peoria, 168 miles, without leasing from other roads. General Manager Burgoon states that the grain crops on the line were large and well harvested and will soon begin to move briskly. The shipments of produce, lumber and other classes of freight are steadily increasing in volume.

Six Cities in the Circuit.

A business meeting of Trotting Association horsemen was held yesterday at Pekin, at which Decatur was represented by Eli Brenneman and Geo. A. Kellar. A new racing circuit was formed to include six cities to embrace Decatur, Bloomington, Pekin, Danville, Kankakee and Springfield. The meeting was held at the Woodford House. The officers elected were D. W. Voorhies, of Danville, president; Eli Brenneman, of Decatur, vice-president; C. M. Reed, of Bloomington, secretary, and Daniel Sapp, of Pekin, treasurer. The races will begin the third week in June, and Decatur will have her races during Fourth of July week. The officers will attend to the details of arranging the schedule for the meeting. All of the cities named in this new Central Illinois Circuit will have mile tracks except Decatur, and possibly Decatur will get there before June with a mile ring.

"The Devil's Auction."

There is an Ostelle Dance in the new "Devil's Auction" (that wonderful Gilmore success), which is decidedly the eccentricity of motion focalized. It is given by the celebrated family Tiepstie who are amazingly swift and bewildering in their intricate and grotesque evolutions. This family is a direct importation from Europe, and to bring these wonderful saltatorial artists here, owner and controller William J. Gilmore was obliged to pay a heavy sum to secure the cancellation of their European contract. This attraction will be at the Grand Thursday night.

Last Week's Stock Receipts.

Receipts of stock in Chicago last week amounted to 76,000 cattle, 209,800 hogs and 33,500 sheep. Compared with the week before these figures show a decrease of 4,800 cattle, 5,000 hogs and 7,600 sheep. Compared with the corresponding week last year there is a decrease of 1,000 cattle, 5,000 hogs and 5,500 sheep. Saturday there was no life in the cattle trade and prices for hogs declined 10c to 15c.

By-Laws of the Memorial Hall Association.

The Memorial Hall Association has adopted by-laws for its government. These by-laws provide for a president, a vice president, two honorary vice presidents, a secretary and treasurer, an executive board of five members and a board of trustees of nine members. All these officers except the two honorary vice presidents are elected from the board of trustees. The commander in chief of the G. A. R. is by virtue of his office an ex-officio member of the board, and is required, by and with the advice of the executive committee, each year after the first to appoint four members of the board of trustees. The other five are to be elected by the members of the Association. The advisory board is made to consist of the commander in chief and the commanders of the several departments, of which the commander in chief is made president of the board; said board to meet annually at the seat of the national encampment. This board receives the annual reports of the trustees and audits the accounts of the officers of the Association, and files the same with the adjutant general.

Each contributor toward the erection and maintainence of the Memorial Hall is made an honorary member of the Association. The commander in chief and the department commanders are made ex-officio active members of the Association. These by-laws also provide that each honorary member who is personally present at any annual meeting of the Association shall have the right to vote.

Will be More at Decatur.

Next June Decatur will swarm with Christian Endeavor young people who will gather here to attend the state convention. Speaking of the size and character of the state meeting just closed at Peoria, the Journal of that city says:

The Fifth annual Illinois state convention of Christian Endeavor Societies is over, the concluding services being held Sunday evening. If the remarks made about it by a large number of delegates can be taken as an expression of the whole, this convention has been the most interesting and instructive of any that have preceded it. The attendance has been large, 1943 delegates having registered from abroad and 353 from Peoria, or 1,397 in all. Two hundred and six towns in Illinois were represented, and there were representatives from eleven states and Africa and Canada. Decatur sent the largest delegation, 116, and Washington next, 48.

A Special Agricultural Course.

The faculty of the University of Illinois at Champaign will announce that for the term commencing January 4, 1892, they have arranged a series of lectures extending up to March 23, as a special agricultural course for young farmers and those expecting to become farmers. It will embrace lectures on farm crops, farm animals and their diseases, vegetable physiology, insect enemies of farm crops, and agricultural chemistry. Any person of good average attainments can enter for this course, and the expense has been reduced to the minimum. The course is planned to meet the wants of that large class of young farmers who want to avail themselves of the advantage of scientific instruction in their profession but cannot spare the time to take the regular college course.

Dr. Keeley Welcomed Home.

Dr. Leslie E. Keeley arrived at his home in Dwight on Saturday afternoon. Two thousand people were at the depot and on West street to receive him. On West street over 700 students of the institute were in line, and when the doctor passed every hat was doffed. At night a reception was tendered Dr. Keeley at the club house, no one but patients being admitted. Speeches of welcome were made by prominent members of the club and responded to by the doctor.

Startling Facts.

The American people are rapidly becoming a race of nervous wrecks, and the following suggests the best remedy: Alphonso Hempfling, of Butler, Pa., swears that when his son was speechless from St. Vitus dance, Dr. Miles' great restorative Nervine cured him. Mrs. J. R. Miller, of Valparaiso, and J. D. Taylor, of Logansport, Ind., each gained 20 pounds from taking it. Mrs. H. A. Gardner, of Vistula, Ind., was cured of 40 to 50 convulsions a day, and much headache, dizziness, backache and nervous prostration by one bottle. Trial bottles and fine book of marvelous cures, free at W. C. Armstrong's, who recommends and guarantees this unequaled remedy.

Episcopal Church Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Federal Council of the Episcopal Church of the Province of Illinois will be held at St. Paul's Cathedral in Springfield to-morrow. The three bishops of the state, Bishop McLaren, of Chicago, Bishop Burgess, of Quincy, and Bishop Seymour, of Springfield, will be present. Five clergymen and five laymen from each of the three dioceses, they being delegates, are also expected to attend. The object of this meeting is to discuss matters of common interest to the Church, principally educational and charitable. The meeting will open at 10:30 a. m. with high celebration of the Holy Eucharist, Bishop McLaren, the primus, presiding, and Layman H. H. Condee, of Cairo, will act as secretary. A new secretary will be elected to serve during the ensuing year, he being the only officer elected. The afternoon session will be entirely a business session. There will be reports of delegates, etc., and the meeting promises to be one of great interest to all. One of the deputies from the Springfield Diocese to the meeting is Mr. L. Burrows, of this city, who was elected over a year ago. Rev. M. M. Goodwin will probably be in attendance during the day.

"McCarthy's Mishaps."

The famous Ferguson and Mack Co., which comprises an aggregation of talent seldom seen in farce comedy, will present at the Grand Friday evening the skit, "McCarthy's Mishaps," which lovers of this form of amusement never seem to tire of, and they should not, as it is one of the most laughable comedies that has ever been presented to us, illustrating the mishaps of two Irishmen, whose greatest object in life is to spend the fortunes they have amassed in seeking pleasure for themselves and friends. While in pursuance of this, complications of the funniest order arise, and the specialties which are introduced incidentally are built upon. The cast comprises such artists as Barney Ferguson, whose inimitable characterization of "Dennis McCarthy" creates laughter incessant. Mr. Chas. Gorman, a comedian of note, is the "Mulligan." Geo. A. Crump portrays the Italian count, and a good rendition is assured. Miss Gertrude Forte, a well known prima donna, Miss Annie Irish, a favorite with theater goers, and Carrie Behr, who needs no introduction, will all be seen in prominent roles. Among the specialties introduced are many novel features which will prove a very pleasing part of the programme.

My limbs felt lame, rickety and rheumatic, and I could not walk without tottering. I felt myself growing prematurely old, and my face began to look pinched and shriveled. I suffered considerable, was restless at night, very nervous, and growing very melancholy. My eyes were sore and I had catarrh. I tried many tonics, and bitters and blood purifiers, but failed to get better. I finally asked a physician which Sarsaparilla, and he replied Dr. John Bull's. I bought six bottles, and before I had used it all I felt like another man. My strength and health improved, pimples and sores disappeared from my person, aches and stiff joints left me, and I now consider myself a well person."

A SAD CASE.

Demented Mary McGinity Again in Custody.

Miss Mary McGinity, aged 20, daughter of the widow, Mrs. Hannah McGinity, of 1612 East Eldorado street, who has twice been an inmate of the State insane asylum at Kankakee, and was brought home two months ago incurable, is wild again, and is now in the custody of the authorities. She was very bad at her home last night, talking incessantly on various subjects, and so conducting herself as to keep the household in a state of alarm. Sheriff Perl was called to the house this morning to take Mary in charge. She was brought up town on the street car and then walked over to the jail. On the way the girl kept up a continual chatter and at the Brunswick Hotel corner she made a dart into the open door. Then the Sheriff and Marshal Mason took her by the arms and escorted her to the prison. In the woman's cell Mary kept up her talk, speaking familiarly of people and events in the city. One auditor tried to interrupt her, when in a complaining tone Mary ejaculated, "See how it is; I never yet met a man who could stand my gab," and then she went on talking with the rapidity of an electric motor with the trolley on, and gave no indication of becoming weary. With or without an audience she will talk. Mary will be transferred to the county asylum at the poor farm.

Mary is a sister of Peter McGinity, who while a patient at the Kankakee asylum was gored to death by a bull. The young girl's state is pitiable. She underwent an operation some months ago in the hope that that would balance her mind, but it did not. She is as bad as ever.

"Hoop of Gold."

The "Hoop of Gold," which is a beautiful story of domestic life, with a wealth of bright comedy, new songs and graceful dances by the soubrette, Miss Myrtle, to interest and please the audience, will be presented at the Grand to-morrow night by the Harry Jackson Dramatic Company, which includes many of the brightest stars of the profession from New York. The play had a remarkable run in England, and was last presented at Harry Miner's theatre, in New York City, August 10th. Mr. Jackson has the exclusive right to produce this piece in the west, and will put it on the stage to-morrow night in elegant style. "The Hoop of Gold" has special reference to the wedding ring. Mr. Jackson will lead in the comedy features of the play, and will give one or more of his famous topical songs. The prices will be 15, 25 and 35 cents—a dollar show at low prices.

Bishop Spalding To-Night.

The privilege of hearing Bishop Spalding lecture to night at the Grand on "Civilization and Christianty" will be afforded our people, and no doubt a large audience will be present. Rt. Rev. J. L. Spalding Bishop of Peoria, was born in Union county, Ky., in 1842, of a noted family which has given many able men to the church. The famous Archbishop Spalding of Baltimore was his Uncle. He was educated at Mount St. Mary's of the West and completed his studies at the University of Louvain, Belgium. He was stationed at the Cathedral, Louisville, Ky., and did noble service for the colored Catholics after the war. He retired from Louisville and became officially connected with St. Michael's Cathedral, New York City. He was consecrated Bishop of Peoria May 1 1877.

MATERIAL FOR HIGHWAYS.

The Kaolin Deposits in Southern Illinois—The Remedy for Bad Roads.

The discovery of the large beds of Kaolin in southern Illinois is attracting a great deal of attention, and a proposition has been made which is regarded with much favor. As is well known, the question of a material for roads is one that has long been carefully and anxiously considered, and the problem of a cheap and good material still remains unsolved. Investigations that have been made indicate that in the new clay beds the long-sought road material was to be found. Several railroads have been using burnt clay as a substitute for rock ballasting. The clay could be procured without much cost and the expense of burning it would be slight. The material is impervious to rain and almost solid. The railroads prefer it, it is said, because no weeds grow in it and it absorbs the water readily, keeps the track dry and solid, and the dust arising from it is not sufficient to be annoying. The experiment is worth trying, for central and southern Illinois roads are "hard roads to travel" the greater portion of the time during the winter season, and all country markets and city grain and stock markets suffer in consequence.

Swallowed a Wagon Nut.

The five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Prescott is the object of much solicitude at present, caused by an accident which occurred at the family home on South Union street, yesterday afternoon. The boy was the owner of a small wagon, which had become so badly broken that little was left except the iron work. The boy is like all other boys. He carries lots of things in his pockets, and sometimes even iron goes into his mouth. He put one of the iron nuts, less than a 25 cent piece in diameter, into his mouth. It was weighty and slick, and before he knew it the boy had swallowed the piece. Enduring no pain but being badly scared he told his mother, and then the household became greatly alarmed. Physicians were summoned and Dr. Ira N. Barnes and Dr. E. W. Moore were the first to respond, both getting to the house before Dr. Cass Chenoweth, the family physician, could be found. Dr. Chenoweth has charge of the case. He says he believes the boy will come around all right, if he is given plenty of mashed potatoes and castor oil. Mr. Prescott intended leaving for New York to-night, but he will delay his departure now until his boy is out of danger. The boy is in his usual good health to-day.

Where Do the Crazy Folks Belong?

State's Attorney Carl Epler of Adams county was in Springfield yesterday to consult Secretary Wines of the state board of charities and Attorney-General Hunt in reference to an injustice which it is claimed is done to Adams county by the commitment to the Jacksonville hospital of insane patients from the soldiers' home at Quincy, they being credited to the quota of Adams county, which is thus filled up and many of the county patients denied admission under the rules governing the institution. The number of insane at the soldiers' home is considerable and the difficulty arises concerning their being counted in the quotas of the counties from which they were admitted to the home from the fact that many of them have declared themselves citizens of Adams county and have voted at elections held there. Attorney-General Hunt gives it as his opinion unofficially that in cases where no intention of change of residence has been declared or where it can be shown that a patient was insane at the time of his admission to the home he should be sent back to the county whence he came to be committed to the insane hospital as a citizen of that county.

Bishop Merrill Sick.

Bishop S. M. Merrill is dangerously ill at the Wesleyan Hospital, Chicago. His sickness is supposed to be due to either an abscess or a tumor in the lower right side of the abdomen. He has for years been more less annoyed by pain in that locality, but his work at Cincinnati at the meeting of the Bishops proved too much for him and he was prostrated. He was sent to his home in Chicago, and from thence to the hospital where an operation may be performed as soon as he is thought able to stand it.

NO PAY, NO STITCHES.

The Meanest Doctor on Earth Makes Himself Known.

CUMBERLAND, Md., Nov. 10.—Yesterday morning, about 5:30 o'clock, Frank Laffin was walking along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad tracks when he fell into a "cattle guard" cutting a fearful gash in his leg. Friends carried him to the office of Dr. Craigen, the county physician. The doctor examined the wound and after dressing it put several stitches in it and then asked for his pay, which was two dollars. The men were surprised as they thought he being the county physician there would be no charge. The doctor said if they did not pay him he would undo his work. They insisted they were penniless, and the doctor cut the stitches, thus undoing his work.

Dr. Craigen said: "That he did not intend to do that kind of work for nothing, and that he cut the stitches."

It is said the mayor will at once call the attention of the states' attorney to the matter. All persons who are aware of the doctor's action express indignation and disgust.

Dr. Craigen is the physician in charge of the jail, almshouse and insane asylum, and is also a member of the United States pension board of examining physicians for this district.

EVA HICKAM'S CASE.

The "Poor Old Slave" Will Have Another Chance to Secure Justice.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 9.—The court of appeals to-day rendered a decision in the case of Eva Hickam, an old colored woman against the estate of the late Joseph Hickam, of Manitou county, Mo. Eva was a slave on the farm of Hickam at the close of the war, but was never told that she had been freed and for twenty-five years she worked for the family, believing herself to be still the property of Hickam.

After Hickam's death in 1889 the woman received the first inkling that she was not a slave and that she was illegally restrained of her liberty, she brought suit against the estate of her former master for $1,440.85 for service for twenty-four years and five days. Eva was awarded one-half this amount, but on appeal to the circuit court the decision was reversed. Eva brought the case to the court of appeals, and yesterday the court handed down a decision reversing the lower court's decision and remanding the case for trial.
